PPAP (Production Part Approval Process)

PPAP (Production Part Approval Process) is a standardized process for ensuring that manufacturing processes are capable of producing parts that meet customer requirements. It involves a series of steps, including process control plans, control charts, and statistical process control (SPC) data. The process is designed to reduce the risk of defects and ensure that the manufacturing process is stable and capable of producing parts that meet customer requirements. The AIAG (Automotive Industry Action Group) FMEA 5th Edition provides a comprehensive guide to the PPAP process, including the requirements for each step and the documentation needed to support the process.
